Ms. Alagna's News

August 29- Sept 2, 2011

Hello everyone-

Once again, another fantastic week in the P3 room!

This week we have done many different things including- decorating chocolate chip cookies, counting to ten, reading buddies with the first and second graders and learning about feelings and how to be nice to each other. We have also talked about Abraham and how God is with us all the time, no matter where we are.

This next week will be talking more about Abraham, and community helpers. We will be coloring, painting and making fire truck puppets!

I want to also remind everyone of magazine sales... Please try your best to sell as many magazines as you can. There are lots of fun prizes to be given away to BIG SELLERS! The next turn-in day will be September 7th.

Please remember to check your child's backpack every night. I send something home almost everyday and some things I need returned.

Chapel Day is on Wednesday mornings from 8:30-9am. Parents and grandparents are urged to come sit with their child.

Show and Tell is on Fridays. Please have your child bring something to share with the class. They are LOVING bringing their toys and sharing!

Our letter for next week will be B and number will be 4. Please try to work at home on recognizing these. We are doing great so far!

I hope everyone has a safe and fun holiday weekend!

God Bless!

Ms. A :)
